

P&H Earns 'Gold' Well-Workplace Award

MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN — January 22, 2010 — P&H Mining Equipment (P&H) has been awarded the Well Workplace Gold Award through the Wellness Council of America (WELCOA). In receiving this award, P&H is recognized for developing comprehensive Wellness programs that produce results. This award exemplifies P&H's commitment to worksite wellness through environmental, health, and safety practices for the benefit of its employees, their families, customers and communities globally.

Said David Hunnicutt, President of the Wellness Councils of America, "P&H Mining Equipment has clearly demonstrated that it has made a tangible commitment to protecting the health and well-being of its most valuable asset—its employees. By meeting the rigorous standards necessary to achieve the Gold Well Workplace Award, P&H Mining Equipment has demonstrated that it is world-class in its approach to workplace wellness."

P&H recognizes that building a healthy, productive, and engaged workforce is as important as building high quality, world-class mining equipment.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

For more information, please contact André Williams, Vice President – Human Resources, P&H Mining Equipment. (awillia1@phmining.com / 414-670-7628).

P&H Mining Equipment, a subsidiary of Joy Global Inc., is a world-leading manufacturer and supplier of above ground mining equipment providing a full range of performance-optimizing life cycle management support for P&H and other equipment lines through its P&H MinePro Services network. For more information, visit us at www.phmining.com